Disability and the Good Human Life Jerome E. Bickenbach, Franziska Felder, Barbara Schmitz, 2015-07-30 This collection of original essays from both established scholars and newcomers takes up a recent debate in philosophy sociology and disability studies on whether disability is intrinsically a harm that lowers a person's quality of life While this is a new question in disability scholarship it also touches on one of the oldest philosophical questions what is the good human life Historically philosophers have not been interested in the topic of disability and when they are it is usually only in relation to questions such as euthanasia abortion or the moral status of disabled people Consequently disability has been either ignored by moral and political philosophers or simply equated with a bad human life a life not worth living This collection takes up the challenge that disability poses to basic questions of political philosophy and bioethics among others by focusing on fundamental issues and practical implications of the relationship between disability and the good human life Disability and the Good Human Life Jerome E. Meyers, 2019-10-03 The United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities CRPD is increasingly used to civilize grassroots disabled persons organizations DPOs around the world The international disability rights movement actively promotes the CRPD's key norm that disabled persons mobilize in support of their rights under the Convention The unintended consequence of these activities however is that local groups focused on social support and service provision rather than disability rights advocacy are targeted for change While the resources provided by international actors to grassroots organizations provide new opportunities they also create barriers to local groups ability to promote full civic participation of their members in the local community Through a detailed account of grassroots DPOs in Nicaragua Civilizing Disability Society demonstrates how local organizations navigate pressures from abroad as they attempt to concretely address the health education and economic needs of their members at home      Ableism at Work Paul David Harpur, 2019-12-19 The UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities promotes ability equality but this is not experienced in national laws Australia Canada Ireland the UK and the US all have one thing in common regulatory frameworks which treat workers with psychosocial disabilities less favorably than workers with either physical or sensory disabilities Ableism at Work is a comprehensive and comparative legal practical and theoretical analysis of workplace inequalities experienced by workers with psychosocial disabilities Whether it be denying anti discrimination protection to people with episodic disabilities addictions or other psychological impairments failing to make reasonable accommodations adjustments for workers with psychosocial disabilities or denying them workers compensation or occupational health and safety protections regulatory interventions imbed inequalities Ableism sanism and prejudice are expressly stated in laws reflected in judgments and perpetuated by workplace practices and this book enables advocates policy makers and lawmakers to understand the wider context in which systems discriminate workers with psychosocial disabilities      Global Encyclopedia of Public Administration, Public Policy, and Governance Ali Farazmand, 2023-04-05 This global encyclopedic work serves as a comprehensive collection of global scholarship regarding the vast fields of public administration public policy governance and management Written and edited by leading international scholars and practitioners this exhaustive resource covers all areas of the above fields and their numerous subfields of study In keeping with the multidisciplinary spirit of these fields and subfields the entries make use of various theoretical empirical analytical practical and methodological bases of knowledge Expanded and updated the second edition includes over a thousand of new entries representing the most current research in public administration public policy governance nonprofit and nongovernmental organizations and management covering such important sub areas as 1 organization theory behavior change and development 2 administrative theory and practice 3 Bureaucracy 4 public budgeting and financial management 5
