The American Rhetorical Construction of the Iranian Nuclear Threat Jason Jones, 2011-08-04 A Discourse on the Dangers That Threaten the Free Institutions of the United States, Being an Address to the Literary Societies of Hampden Sidney College, Virginia (Classic Reprint) Beverley Tucker, 2015-07-11

Excerpt from A Discourse on the Dangers That Threaten the Free Institutions of the United States Being an Address to the Literary Societies of Hampden Sidney College Virginia Gentlemen The name of your Association naturally suggested to me that in preparing to discharge the task to which you have been pleased to call me it would become me to select some topic connected with the Happiness of Mankind The field indeed is broad for what duty that man owes to his Maker to the human race to his country to society or to himself can I inculcate without exhorting to that which makes for his happiness But fortunately for you gentlemen on most of these subjects Tam forestalled On the most important among them on the claims of Religion and the duties of Morality you are daily instructed by those who address you in the name and by the authority of God himself And were not this so and were it not a profanation that I should take that holiest of names on unclean lips I should still be restrained by the reminiscences connected with this spot About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Conservatism and Southern Intellectuals, 1789-1861 Adam L. Tate, 2005 In Conservatism and Southern Intellectuals 1789-1861 Adam L. Tate discusses the nature of southern conservative thought between 1789 and 1861 by examining six conservatives whose lives and careers spanned the antebellum period John Randolph of Roanoke John Taylor of Caroline Nathaniel Beverly Tucker William Gilmore Simms Joseph Glover Baldwin and Johnson Jones Hooper Tate contends that southern conservatism derived its distinctive characteristics from its acceptance of aspects of John Locke's political theory as it was articulated during the American Revolution Locke argued that the state and society were two entities that could be reformed and manipulated by men Showing that most southern conservative intellectuals accepted Locke's premise regarding separation of state and society Tate examines both the political views and social vision of the six conservatives surveyed He pays special attention to how these conservatives dealt with states rights republicanism slavery sectionalism and religion as well as western expansion and migration Tate maintains that while southern conservatives forged a common political tradition based on Old Republican interpretations of the Constitution they did not create a unified tradition of social thought Even though most of them desired a cohesive southern intellectual movement as well as a homogenous southern culture their disagreements over the good society prevented them from creating a common southern social vision to accompany their states rights political tradition
