Evocative Objects Sherry Turkle, 2011-09-30 Autobiographical essays framed by two interpretive essays by the editor describe the power of an object to evoke emotion and provoke thought reflections on a cello a laptop computer a 1964 Ford Falcon an apple a mummy in a museum and other things to think with For Sherry Turkle We think with the objects we love we love the objects we think with In Evocative Objects Turkle collects writings by scientists humanists artists and designers that trace the power of everyday things These essays reveal objects as emotional and intellectual companions that anchor memory sustain relationships and provoke new ideas These days scholars show new interest in the importance of the concrete This volume's special contribution is its focus on everyday riches the simplest of objects an apple a datebook a laptop computer are shown to bring philosophy down to earth The poet contends No ideas but in things The notion of evocative objects goes further objects carry both ideas and passions In our relations to things thought and feeling are inseparable Whether it's a student's beloved 1964 Ford Falcon left behind for a station wagon and motherhood or a cello that inspires a meditation on fatherhood the intimate objects in this collection are used to reflect on larger themes the role of objects in design and play discipline and desire history and exchange mourning and memory transition and passage meditation and new vision In the interest of enriching these connections Turkle pairs each autobiographical essay with a text from philosophy history literature or theory creating juxtapositions at once playful and profound So we have Howard Gardner's keyboards and Lev Vygotsky's hobbyhorses William Mitchell's Melbourne train and Roland Barthes pleasures of text Joseph Cevetello's glucometer and Donna Haraway's cyborgs Each essay is framed by images that are themselves evocative Essays by Turkle begin and end the collection inviting us to look more closely at the everyday objects of our lives the familiar objects that drive our routines hold our affections and open out our world in unexpected ways

The Silent Life of Things Alan Munton, Daniela Rogobete, Jonathan P. Sell, 2015-11-25 The ever growing interest in the analysis of materiality has found its expression in many studies of objects and objecthood of things and thingness Combining cultural phenomenological semiotic and philosophical approaches this collection of eleven essays proposes a journey into the silent life of things into those aspects of materiality that are not immediately visible and require both increased attention and a sense of intuition It focuses on the subtle changes that materiality operates upon our subjectivity and upon our status as producers users possessors negotiators and manipulators of objects and analyses the ways in which materiality is constantly redefined by consumerism and the strategies it adopts in order to resist commodification In the process the collection explores different ways of deciphering what materiality in its reliable concreteness or its magical materialism tries to tell us all the silent stories that things accumulate while circulating among people societies and cultures the narratives they weave when amassed collected archived or transformed into cultural commodities the secrets they reveal when witnessing the gradual commodification of their owners of their bodies lives and souls The Silent Life of Things Representing and Reading Commodified Objecthood establishes a new paradigm for reading and interpreting commodified materiality and its participation in the establishment of a new aesthetics of consumerism Interpreting Slavery with Children and Teens at Museums and Historic Sites

Kristin L. Gallas, 2021-09-26 Interpreting Slavery with Children and Teens offers advice examples and replicable practices for the comprehensive development and implementation of slavery related school and family programs at museums and historic sites Developing successful experiences school programs field trips family tours about slavery is more than just historical research and some hands on activities Interpreting the history of slavery often requires offering students new historical narratives and helping them to navigate the emotions that arise when new narratives conflict with longstanding beliefs We must talk with young people about slavery and race as it is not enough to just talk to them or about the subject By engaging students in dialogue about slavery and race they bring their prior knowledge scaffold new knowledge and create their own relevance all while adults hear them and show respect for what they have to say The book's framework aims to move the field forward in its collective conversation about the interpretation of slavery with young audiences acknowledging the criticism of the past and acting in the present to develop inclusive interpretation of slavery When an organization commits to doing school and family programs on the topic of slavery it makes a promise to past and future generations to keep alive the memory of long silenced millions and to raise awareness of the racist legacies of slavery in our society today Literature and the Rise of the Interview Rebecca Roach, 2018-11-21 Today interviews proliferate everywhere in newspapers on television and in anthologies as a method they are a major tool of medicine the law the social sciences oral history projects and journalism and in the book trade interviews with authors are a major promotional device We live in an interview society How did this happen What is it about the interview form that we find so appealing and horrifying Are we all just gossips or is there something more to it What are the implications of our reliance on this bizarre dynamic for publicity subjectivity and democracy Literature and the Rise of the Interview addresses these questions from the perspective of literary culture The book traces the ways in which the interview form has been conceived and deployed by writers and interviewing has been understood as a literary critical practice It excavates what we might call a poetics of the interview form and practice In so doing it covers 150 years and four continents It includes a diverse rostrum of well known writers such as Henry James T S Eliot Ezra Pound Djuna Barnes William Burroughs Philip Roth J M Coetzee and Toni Morrison while reintroducing some individuals that history has forgotten such as Betty Ross Queen of Interviewers and Julian Hawthorne Nathaniel's profligate son Together these stories expose the interview's position in the literary imagination and consider what this might tell us about conceptions of literature authorship and reading communities in modernity Drawing from Life Jane

Tolmie, 2013-11-01 Autobiography has seen enormous expansions and challenges over the past decades One of these expansions has been in comics and it is an expansion that pushes back against any postmodern notion of the death of the author subject while also demanding new approaches from critics Drawing from Life Memory and Subjectivity in Comic Art is a collection of essays about autobiography semi autobiography fictionalized autobiography memory and self narration in sequential art or comics Contributors come from a range of academic backgrounds including English American studies comparative literature gender studies art history and cultural studies The book engages with well known figures such as Art Spiegelman Marjane Satrapi and Alison Bechdel with cult status figures such as Martin Vaughn James and with lesser known works by artists such as Fr d ric Boilet Negotiations between artist writer body and drawn written text raise questions of how comics construct identity and are read and perceived requiring a critical turn towards theorizing the comics viewer At stake in comic memoir and semi autobiography is embodiment Remembering a scene with the intent of rendering it in sequential art requires nonlinear thinking and engagement with physicality Who was in the room and where What was worn Who spoke first What images dominated the encounter Did anybody smile Man or mouse Unhinged from the summary paragraph the comics artist must confront the fact of the flesh or the corporeal world and they do so with fascinating results Simple Things, Evocative Object ,1995
