

11. Which one of the following statements is true?

- (a) Rectangular coordinate systems must be stationary.
- (b) The positive tangential direction of an n-t coordinate system must point toward the centre of curvature.
- ☒ (c) Normal-tangential coordinate systems cannot be used to measure position.
- (d) $\Sigma \underline{F} = m\underline{a}$ can be used with an accelerating coordinate system.

12. A bus collides head-on with a car. During the collision, which one of the following statements is true?

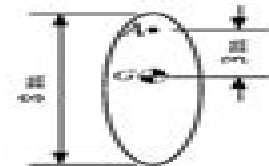

- ☒ (a) The bus exerts the same amount of force on the car as the car exerts on the bus.
- (b) The bus exerts a greater amount of force on the car than the car exerts on the bus.
- (c) The car exerts a greater amount of force on the bus than the bus exerts on the car.
- (d) Neither exerts a force on the other, the car gets smashed simply because it gets in the way of the bus.

13. The object shown has a mass of 4 kg and moment of inertia about its centre of mass G of 16 kgm^2 . What is the object's moment of inertia about point A ?

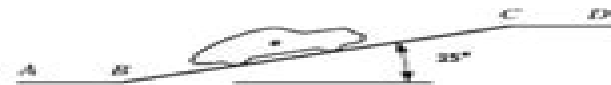

- (a) 4 kgm^2
- ☒ (b) 52 kgm^2
- (c) 16 kgm^2
- (d) 28 kgm^2

$$I_A = I_G + md^2$$

$$= 16 + 4(9) = 52$$

Refer to the figure on the right when answering the next two questions. A 2500-kg car is approaching a 15° slope. At A the car has a speed of 30 km/h. Ignore aerodynamic effects.

14. The driver wants to have a speed of 50 km/h at D . Consider the total energy required to move from A to D , which road segment should the driver accelerate in to reach 50 km/h that would result in the least energy required?

- ☒ (a) It takes the same amount of energy to accelerate the car and move from A to D regardless of the road segment.
- (b) $B - C$
- (c) $A - B$
- (d) $C - D$

$$U_{A \rightarrow D} = \Delta T + \Delta U_g + \Delta U_c$$

Do not depend on angle
 $\therefore U_{A \rightarrow D}$ is the same

15. If the car is travelling at a constant speed of 50 km/h between B and C , what is the power output required by the engine to keep it going at this constant speed?

- (a) 0 kW since the car is already moving at constant speed.
- (b) 329.0 kW
- ☒ (c) 88.2 kW
- (d) 317.4 kW

$$a = 0$$

$$F = mg \sin 15$$

$$P = F \cdot v$$

$$= 2500 (9.81) \sin 15 \times \frac{50}{3.6}$$

$$= 88.2 \text{ kW}$$

In Two Minds Jonathan St. B. T. Evans, Keith Frankish, 2009 This book explores the idea that we have two minds one that is automatic unconscious and fast the other controlled conscious and slow In recent years there has been great interest in so called dual process theories of reasoning and rationality According to dual process theories there are two distinct systems underlying human reasoning an evolutionarily old system that is associative automatic unconscious parallel and fast and a more recent distinctively human system that is rule based controlled conscious serial and slow Within the former processes are held to be innate and to use heuristics which evolved to solve specific adaptive problems In the latter processes are taken to be learned flexible and responsive to rational norms Despite the attention these theories are attracting there is still poor communication between dual process theorists themselves and the substantial bodies of work on dual processes in cognitive psychology and social psychology remain isolated from each other This book brings together leading researchers on dual processes to summarize the state of the art highlight key issues present different perspectives explore implications and provide a stimulus to further work It includes new ideas about the human mind both by contemporary philosophers interested in broad theoretical questions about mental architecture and by psychologists specialising in traditionally distinct and isolated fields For all those in the cognitive sciences this is a book that will advance dual process theorizing promote interdisciplinary communication and encourage further applications of dual process approaches
