Evolution Of Central Banking De Nederlandsche Bank 1814 1852:

Evolution of Central Banking? Roland Uittenbogaard, 2014-12-29 The book analyses the establishment of De Nederlandsche Bank and its early development as a case study to test competing theories on the historical development of central banking It is shown that the establishment of DNB can be explained by both the fiscal theory and the financial stability theory Later development makes clear that the financial stability role of DNB prevailed DNB's bank notes were not forced onto the public and competition was fierce A prudent and independent stance was necessary to be able to play its intended role This meant that DNB played a modest role in the Amsterdam money market until 1852 By 1852 it had established itself to become the central bank By then its bank notes had become generally accepted and it could start to operate as a reserve bank Also the market context had changed dramatically its competitors had been driven out of the market and several credit institutions had become customers of DNB On the occasion of the Nederlandsche Bank's 200th Anniversary it is good to have a new and an extremely good history of its founding and first fifty years of operation The only previous account of this period of the DNB's history was legalistic and did not sufficiently place the Bank's development in its wider context Uittenbogaard's book provides a much broader and better story of the personnel economics and finance of the DNB at this juncture Charles Goodhart LSE causes of the lagged industrialization of the Dutch economy during the nineteenth century To this debate Trials of Convergence brings the analytical perspective of prices factor costs and the functioning of markets Its critical insight is that only an approach based on the integrated incentive structure of the economy allows us to delimit the role of alternative explanations Using statistical reconstruction and microdata it shows that the retarded transition resulted from a confluence of forces These ranged from open economy effects and natural endowments to the resilient influence of the institutions of the former Dutch Republic and the fiscal policy adopted in response to Belgian secession At the height of the British Industrial Revolution the Dutch economy slowed triggering a return to the problems of eighteenth century stagnation All this meant that the transition to modern economic growth after 1860 came about only in a changed international context and after a period of politico economic reform
