Faked In China Nation Branding Counterfeit Culture And Globalization Global Research Studies:

Faked in China Fan Yang, 2015-11-15 Faked in China is a critical account of the cultural challenge faced by China following its accession to the World Trade Organization in 2001. It traces the interactions between nation branding and counterfeit culture, two manifestations of the globalizing Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) regime that give rise to competing visions for the nation. Nation branding is a state-sanctioned policy captured by the slogan 'From Made in China to Created in China', which aims to transform China from a manufacturer of foreign goods into a nation that creates its own IPR-eligible brands. Counterfeit culture is the transnational making, selling, and buying of unauthorized products. This cultural dilemma of the postsocialist state demonstrates the unequal relations of power that persist in contemporary globalization. Methods, Moments, and Ethnographic Spaces in Asia Nayantara S. Appleton, Caroline Bennett, 2021-04-15 Asia is changing. Socio-political shifts in the world economy, technological advances of monumental scales, movements of people and ideas alongside ongoing post-colonization projects across the region have created an emerging Asia, one confident and assertive of its place in the contemporary geopolitical sphere. As political and economic powers reassert Asian sovereignty in opposition to perceived Northern dominance and dramatic and rapid development in the region shift the relationship between the centre and the periphery, new renderings and imaginations of hierarchies of identity and power come to the fore. This changing environment leads to emerging challenges for anthropologists working in the region, both those who have been working there for years and new scholars entering the field. This volume considers these changes and the implications of this on our practice. By focusing on Asia as a site of enquiry, the contributors to this book discuss tensions and opportunities arising in their ethnographic fieldwork in light of a changing Asia. Drawing on personal reflections on Asia's global positioning in this contemporary moment, the contributors consider how fieldwork is being negotiated within the changing dynamics of anthropology in the region. This book then is a discussion on the shifting landscape of field sites and the resultant emerging research methodologies and is aimed at those who are already deeply immersed in fieldwork as well as those who are seeking ways to undertake it. Chinese Environmental Humanities Chia-ju Chang, 2019-08-05 Chinese Environmental Humanities showcases contemporary ecocritical approaches to Chinese culture and aesthetic production as practiced in China itself and beyond. As the first collaborative environmental humanities project of this kind, this book brings together sixteen scholars from a diverse range of disciplines, including literary and cultural studies, philosophy, ecocinema, and ecomedia studies, religious studies, minority studies, and animal or multispecies studies. The fourteen chapters are conceptually framed through the lens of the Chinese term huanjing (environment), or encircling the surroundings, a critical device for imagining the aesthetics and politics of place-making or the practice of environing at the margin. The discourse of environing at the margins facilitates consideration of the modes, aesthetics, ethics, and politics of environmental inclusion and exclusion, providing a lens into the environmental thinking and practices of the world's most populous society. China's Avant-Garde, 1978-2018 Daria Berg, Giorgio Strafella, 2022-11-11 This book examines how China's new generation of avant garde writers and artists are pushing the boundaries of vernacular culture creatively appropriating artistic and literary languages from global cultures to reflect on reform era China's transformation and the Maoist heritage. It explores the vortex of cultural change from the launch of Deng Xiaoping's reforms in 1978 to Xi Jinping establishing his leadership for life in 2018. The book argues that China's new avant garde adopt transcultural forms of expression while challenging the official discourse of Xi Jinping's regime which promotes cultural nationalism and demands that cultural production in China embodies the essence of the Chinese nation. The topics range from body art, women's poetry and boys' love literature to Tibetan fiction and ceramic art. The book shows how the avant garde use the new digital media to bypass government censorship transcending China's virtual frontiers while breaking new ground for an emerging public sphere. Overall, the book provides a rich picture of the nature of China's avant garde art and literature and the challenges it poses for the Chinese government. The introduction and chapter 10 of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license.

Counterfeit Itineraries in the Global South Rosana Pinheiro-Machado, 2017-08-10 At the end of the 1970s Chinese merchandise moved to Brazil via Paraguay forming an on the margins of the law trade chain involving the production, distribution and consumption of cheap goods. Economic changes in the twenty-first century, including the enforcement of intellectual property rights and the growing importance of emerging economies, have had a dramatic effect on how this chain works, criminalizing and dismantling a trade system that had previously functioned in an organized form and stimulated the circulation of goods, money and people at transnational levels. This book analyses how exchange networks that produced, distributed and sold cheap manufactured products animated a huge and vibrant system from China to Brazil, examining the process at global, national and local levels. From a global perspective, intellectual property is a powerful discourse that governs the world system by framing the notion of piracy as a criminal activity. But at the national level, how do nation states resist and/or endorse, interpret and apply a global perspective? And what effect does that have on how ordinary people organize their lives around this system? Interweaving discourse on transnational traders and producers, national projects and international institutions, Counterfeit Itineraries in the Global South presents low-income traders not as passive victims of globalization but as active actors in the distribution of cheap goods across borders in the Global South. Based on fifteen years of ethnographic field work in China and Brazil, Counterfeit Itineraries in the Global South will be of interest to scholars of economic anthropology, development studies, political economy, Latin America studies, Chinese studies and socio-legal studies.

Fake Stuff Yi-Chieh Jessica Lin, 2011-03-29 The Anthropology of Stuff is part of a new Series dedicated to innovative, unconventional ways to connect undergraduate students and their lived concerns about our social world to the power of social science ideas and evidence. Our goal with the project is to help spark social science imaginations and in doing so, new avenues for meaningful thought and action Each Stuff title is a short 100 page mini text illuminating for students the network of people and activities that create their material world Yi Chieh Lin reveals how the entrepreneurial energy of emerging markets such as China includes the opportunity to profit from fake stuff that is counterfeit goods that rely on our fascination with brand names Students will discover how the names and logos embroidered and printed on their own clothes carry their own price tag above and beyond the use value of the products themselves The book provides a wonderful introduction for students to global markets and their role in determining how they function Brand New China Jing Wang,2010-04-10

One part riveting account of fieldwork and one part rigorous academic study Brand New China offers a unique perspective on the advertising and marketing culture of China Jing Wang s experiences in the disparate worlds of Beijing advertising agencies and the U S academy allow her to share a unique perspective on China during its accelerated reintegration into the global market system Brand New China offers a detailed penetrating and up to date portrayal of branding and advertising in contemporary China Wang takes us inside an advertising agency to show the influence of American branding theories and models She also examines the impact of new media practices on Chinese advertising deliberates on the convergence of grassroots creative culture and viral marketing strategies samples successful advertising campaigns provides practical insights about Chinese consumer segments and offers methodological reflections on pop culture and advertising research This book unveils a brand new China that is under the sway of the ideology of global partnership while struggling not to become a mirror image of the United States Wang takes on the task of showing where Western thinking works in China where it does not and perhaps most important where it creates opportunities for cross fertilization Thanks to its combination of engaging vignettes from the advertising world and thorough research that contextualizes these vignettes Brand New China will be of interest to industry participants students of popular culture and the general reading public interested in learning about a rapidly transforming Chinese society From Chinese Brand Culture to Global Brands W. Fashion in Multiple Chinas Wessie Ling, Simona Segre-Reinach, 2018-04-20 Much has been written about the transformation of China from being a clothing manufacturing site to a fast rate fashion consuming society Less however has been written on the process of making Chinese fashion The expert contributors to Fashion in Multiple Chinas explore how the many Chinese fashions operate across the widespread fragmented and diffused Chinese diaspora They confront the idea of Chinese nationalism as one nation as well as of China as a single reality in revealing the realities of Chinese fashion as diverse and comprising multiple practices They also demonstrate how the making of Chinese fashion is composed of numerous layers often involving a web of global entanglements between manufacturing and circulation retailing and branding They cover the mechanics of the PRC fashion industry the creative economy of Chinese fashion its retail and branding and the cultural identity of Chinese fashion from the diasporas comprising the transglobal landscape of fashion production

Counterfeit-product Trade Gene M. Grossman, Carl Shapiro, 1986 We analyze a two country model of trade in both legitimate and counterfeit products Domestic firms own trademarks and establish reputations for delivering high quality products in a steady state equilibrium Foreign suppliers export legitimate low quality merchandise and counterfeits of domestic brand name goods Heterogeneous home consumers either purchase low quality imports or buy brand name products rationally expecting some degree of counterfeiting of the latter We characterize a counterfeiting equilibrium and explore its properties We describe the positive and normative effects of counterfeiting in comparison with a no counterfeiting benchmark Finally we provide a welfare analysis of border inspection policy and of policy regarding the disposition of counterfeit goods that are confiscated at the border
